MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT DELANEY

Dear graduates, faculty, and distinguished guests,

Each year I've served as President of Flagler College, I approach the monumental occasion of Commencement with immense pride and gratitude. Like many of you, my own path was shaped by the transformative power of education.

As I stand before a class of graduates sitting shoulder to shoulder with their friends, teammates, and peers, I am reminded of the pivotal moments during my own college experience when friendships were forged in the most unexpected places. Those bonds, created over late-night study sessions, spirited debates, and shared laughter, became the bedrock of my life.

Together, step-by-step, you've completed a unique journey that will forever bind you to each other and to the legacy of Flagler College. Consider what a wonderful privilege it is to take this final step by their side. Also, remember the committed mentorship of your professors who were guides and champions of your potential.

Let the bonds of friendship and mentorship that you formed at Flagler remind you of the community you can always return to here in St. Augustine. Whether you seek guidance, networking opportunities, or simply a friendly face, know that Flagler remains your home.

Commencement is also a time to celebrate your individuality and the unique contributions each of you made to our vibrant community. Through this journey, you have persevered, adapted, and grown in ways that will shape your future endeavors.

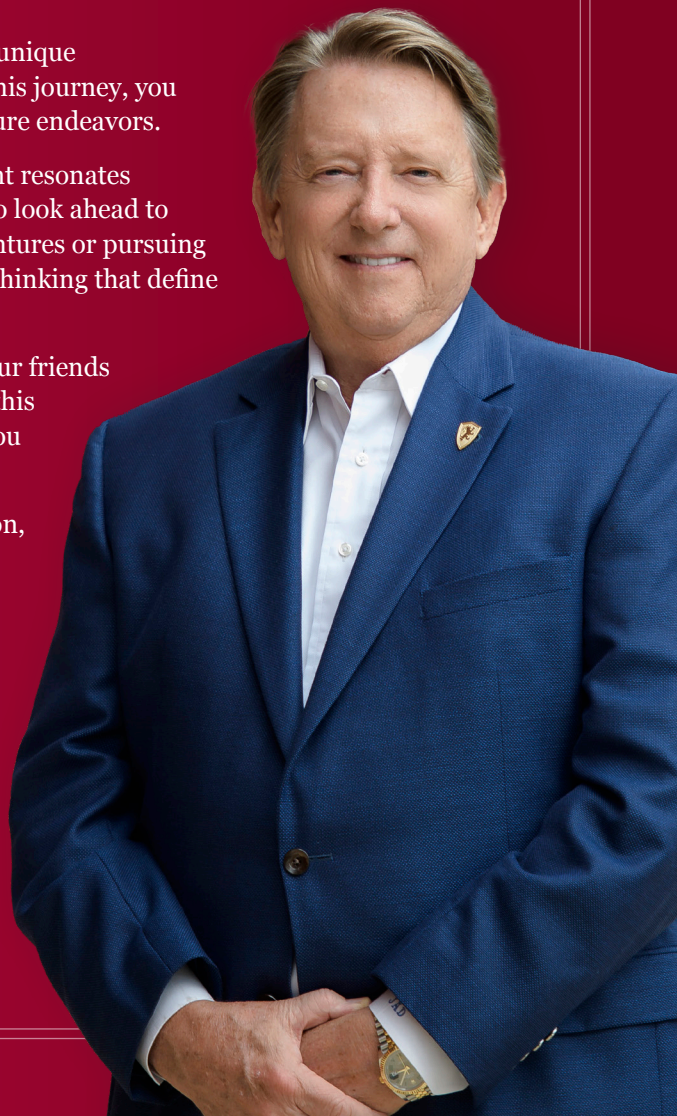

As proven by the Saints who came before you, your impact as a student resonates beyond the four years you've spent here. Therefore, I encourage you to look ahead to your future with excitement. Whether you're embarking on new adventures or pursuing further studies, carry with you the spirit of camaraderie and forward thinking that define this special community.

Beyond the diploma you will receive today, beyond the applause of your friends and family, lies your next step—a step of equal significance. Don't let this step be merely a transition. Let this step be another opportunity for you to make history.

It's my hope that you leave today's ceremony with courage, compassion, and a sense of purpose. Stay strong in your aspirations, letting your friendships endure and your impact ripple across the world.

Our History

A COASTAL COLLEGE STEEPED IN HISTORY.

Flagler College is an independent, non-sectarian institution of higher education offering four-year programs leading to the undergraduate degree. Flagler was originally established as a women's college in 1968 before becoming a coeducational institution in 1971, and graduating its first class in the spring of 1972.

While the College was founded in 1968, the seeds of its existence were sown in the nineteenth century. Its heritage is closely linked to the history of Florida through the life of Henry Morrison Flagler, oil magnate, railroad pioneer, and land developer. Mr. Flagler co-founded the Standard Oil Company with John D. Rockefeller, and initiated Florida's giant tourism industry through his railroad and chain of luxury hotels. He is regarded as the single most pivotal figure in Florida's post-industrial development, and his record of philanthropy remains unmatched in the state's history.

The famous Hotel Ponce de Leon, built by Mr. Flagler in 1888, was one of the grandest resort hotels of its day. Now the centerpiece of the Flagler College campus, Ponce de Leon Hall stands as a National Historic Landmark of American architecture. The legacy of Henry M. Flagler is bestowed on the College through the lasting beauty of this building which has stood the test of time.

MISSION

Flagler College offers an exceptional education through a challenging, inclusive, and supportive academic community integrated with the thriving culture and history of this unique place, St. Augustine.

We foster intellectual, social, and personal transformation in our students.

We prepare them for a diverse world that will always need discerning individuals, responsible citizens, and visionary leaders.

The College is committed to the preservation of the former Hotel Ponce de Leon and other historic structures that grace its campus.

FLAGLER COLLEGE

Learning in pursuit of a life well-lived.

CORE VALUES

At Flagler College, we strive for excellence by living our core values in service of our College's mission:

TRANSFORMATIVE LEARNING

We are committed to educating the whole person. As a community of inquiry, we value freedom of expression and the bond between teacher and student. We embrace a personalized education that is designed to transform lives and instill a passion for lifelong learning.

RESPECTFUL AND INCLUSIVE COMMUNITY

We foster a sense of respect and appreciation for the dignity of all individuals. We cultivate an inclusive and diverse community that encourages civil and productive dialogue across differences.

CITIZENSHIP WITH INTEGRITY

We believe that ethical citizenship should be exemplified on campus and in the community.

We set high expectations for honesty, integrity, and individual responsibility.

We are deeply committed to building a community of trust.

THOUGHTFUL STEWARDSHIP

We are dedicated to stewardship: to the care of each other, to the preservation of our historical buildings and natural resources, to the responsible management of our financial resources and gifts, and to the celebration of the remarkable heritage of St. Augustine with its vibrant cultures and history.

ACADEMIC TRADITIONS

ACADEMIC HONORS

Students at Flagler College may graduate with honors by virtue of earning exceptionally high grades. There are three designations for honors: Summa Cum Laude (with the highest praise), which requires an overall grade point average of 3.90-4.00; Magna Cum Laude (with great praise), which requires an overall average of 3.70-3.89; and Cum Laude (with praise), which requires an average of 3.50-3.69.

Honors distinctions are determined by the students' cumulative grade point average at the end of their senior year. To be eligible for honors, a student must complete at least 56 semester hours of graded academic work at Flagler College.

ACADEMIC CEREMONIES

The commencement ceremony is the tradition by which an academic institution publicly acknowledges and honors the accomplishments of students who have satisfied the requirements for their chosen degrees. Many factors, like the nature of the institution, the size of the graduating class, the weather, and the place of ceremony, affect the details of commencement ceremony. In accommodating these varying factors, each academic institution creates traditions and practices unique to their ceremony. At Flagler College, the commencement procession includes full-time faculty and members of the Board of Trustees. Those on stage, presiding over the ceremony, include administrative officials, a representative for the faculty senate, the commencement speaker, as well as the invocation and benediction speakers.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic attire originated in 12th-century Western European universities, and was initially designed for warmth in unheated halls. Gowns, adapted from priestly togas, were fur-lined, and hoods protected shaved heads. Medieval universities emphasized rank, using robes to distinguish scholars, much like the military's hierarchy. The three academic ranks—bachelor, master, and doctor—reflect levels of achievement, with masters and doctors both historically qualified to teach.

Revived in the 19th-century by American universities to enhance academic ceremonies, regalia has evolved as institutions grew. In 1885, the Academic Costume Code standardized attire, remaining largely unchanged until the American Council on Education issued revised guidelines in 1960.

Academic attire consists of three main components: cap, gown, and hood. The traditional headpiece is the mortarboard, a square cap that matches the gown in color and material, with a tassel worn on the left. Doctoral graduates wear gold tassels, while some institutions have adopted the velvet beret, inspired by Cambridge University.

ACADEMIC REGALIA (CONT'D)

Black is the standard gown color, though some universities use institutional colors. Master's gowns have pointed sleeves with slits at the elbows, while doctoral gowns feature wide velvet lapels and full, bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet chevrons. Bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed, but doctoral gowns may be black or the scholar's field color. Some universities have recently introduced more colorful regalia for their doctoral graduates.

The hood, draped over the back of the gown, carries significant academic symbolism. Its shape and length denote the degree level: pointed for master's and bell-shaped for doctoral degrees. The hood's border color represents the scholar's field of study, while its lining reflects the degree-granting institution. The following colors are associated with degrees frequently represented in academic processions:

SYMBOLS OF OFFICE

THE COLLEGE MACE

The mace represents the power, strength, and stability of Flagler College. It is carried by the elected Chair of the Faculty Senate. The mace was constructed in 1992 out of materials from Ponce Hall for the 25th anniversary of the College by Associate Professor Emeritus Thomas Rahner. The lion is cast in bronze by Professor Emeritus Enzo Torcoletti. The imagery on the mace symbolizes the tree of knowledge, Flagler's academic departments, and St. Augustine.

CHAIN OF OFFICE

The Flagler College Chain of Office is bestowed upon the President at an official inauguration ceremony and is worn by them during all official occasions requiring academic regalia. It is a permanent insignia of office and passed down to each succeeding president of Flagler College. The chain consists of medallions from the Flagler College seal, as well as the names of the past presidents of Flagler, including their years of service.

ALMA MATER

HERE WE STAND, TOGETHER

Lyrics By:

Dr. Craig Woelfel

Music By:

Kip Taisey

Here we stand, together,
Where sand meets with the sea.
And pasts meet with the future
In old St. Augustine.

Oh, here we stand, together,
To make this promise true:
To strive, to seek, to serve,
To build, and to renew.

Hope is our track forward and
Love our bridge between.
Our legacy is building the Flagler Family!

Here we stand together,
Where Henry Flagler stood
To hail our alma mater,
To seek the common good.

We hail our alma mater,
And seek the common good.

Class of 2025

You have just achieved an incredible milestone that reflects years of hard work, perseverance, and dedication. Not only is Flagler College proud of you for this remarkable accomplishment, but so are your family, friends, and loved ones who have supported you every step of the way.

To celebrate this significant achievement, your family and friends have shared heartfelt messages of encouragement and pride, beautifully captured in this keepsake book. We hope you cherish these special notes and reflect on the support and love that surround you, now and in the years to come.

A heartfelt thank-you goes to the members of the Class of 2025 who chose to give back through the Senior Class Gift and the Senior Class Endowed Scholarship. Your generosity ensures that future Saints can experience the exceptional opportunities of Flagler College with reduced financial challenges. These contributions, combined with the support and love expressed in this book, create a lasting legacy that will benefit generations of students to come.

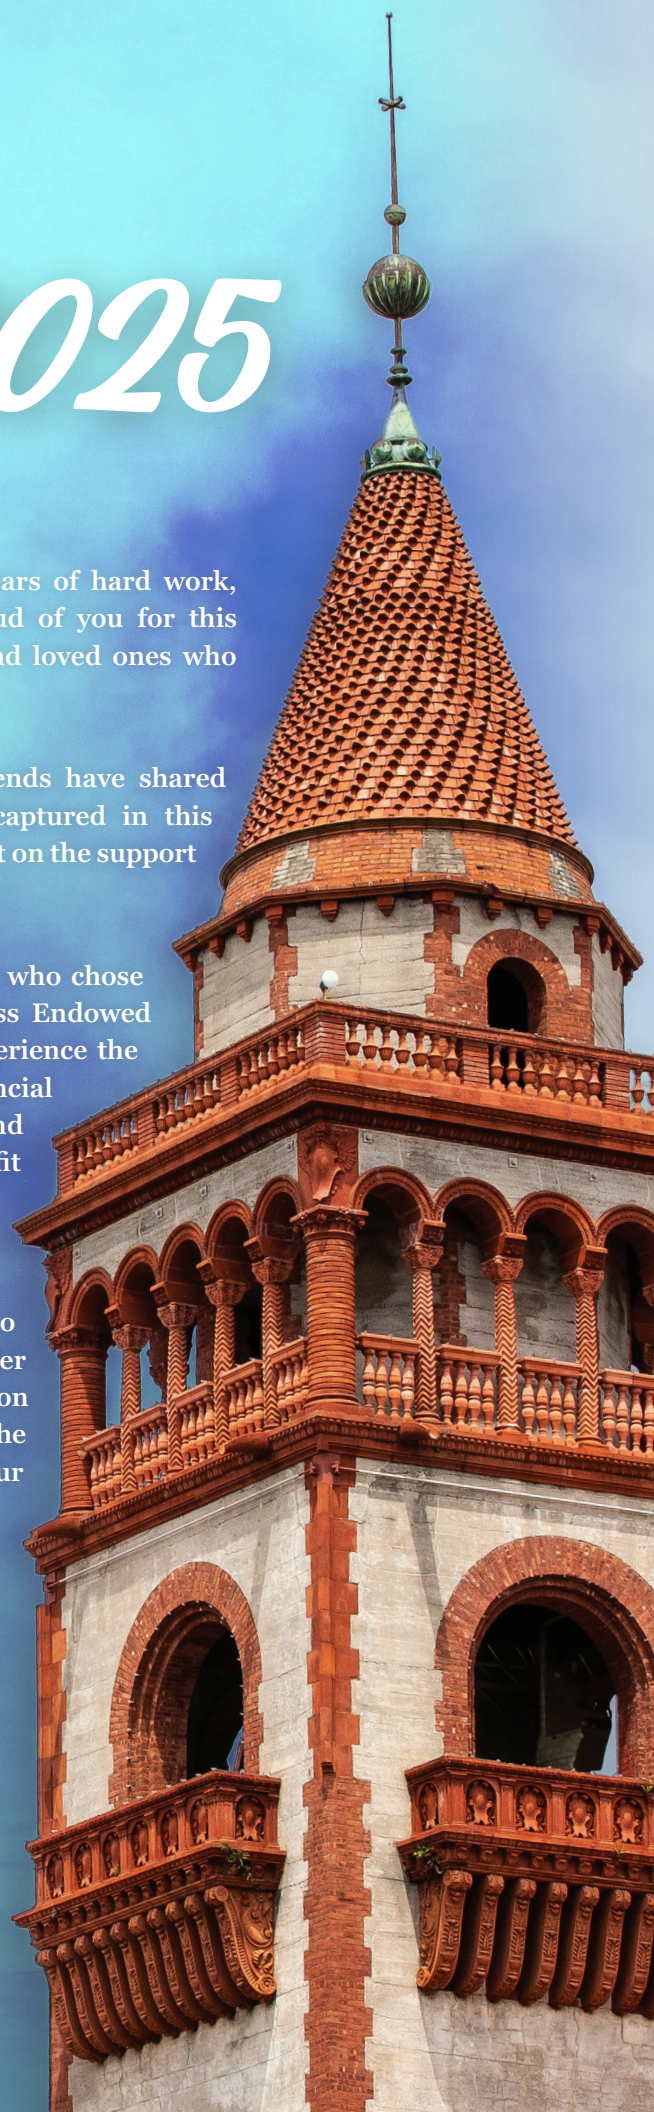

As you move forward, we hope the bonds of friendship and community you've built over the past four years will continue to grow and flourish. We encourage you to stay connected to Flagler College, participate in alumni events, and carry forward the tradition of giving back as proud members of the Flagler Alumni family. The bold spirit and enduring strength of the Class of 2025 will be your compass as you begin this exciting new chapter.

Congratulations again, and welcome to the Flagler Alumni family!

Welcome to the Alumni Association

We are so thrilled to be able to call you alumni of Flagler College. Your determination, dedication, good humor, and grit during your years as a Flagler student will be the foundation on which you continue to build your legacy. Whether the next step is graduate school, a job, or still to be determined, feel confident that you have the tools to succeed.

You also have an additional tool—and that is the support of the Alumni Association. Please find us on LinkedIn, come to chapter events and Alumni Weekend, and plug into your Flagler College network of 20,000+ alumni who live and work around the country and the world.

Being a graduate of Flagler College is a lifelong bond. We will celebrate with you in all your future successes—new jobs, growing your family, grad school, promotions, world travels, and beyond—and will support you during the at-times uncertain and steep road to reach these goals. As you walk your path in life, know Flagler College is walking beside you and cheering you on every step of the way. And when your path takes you through St. Augustine, please stop and see us in the Alumni House.

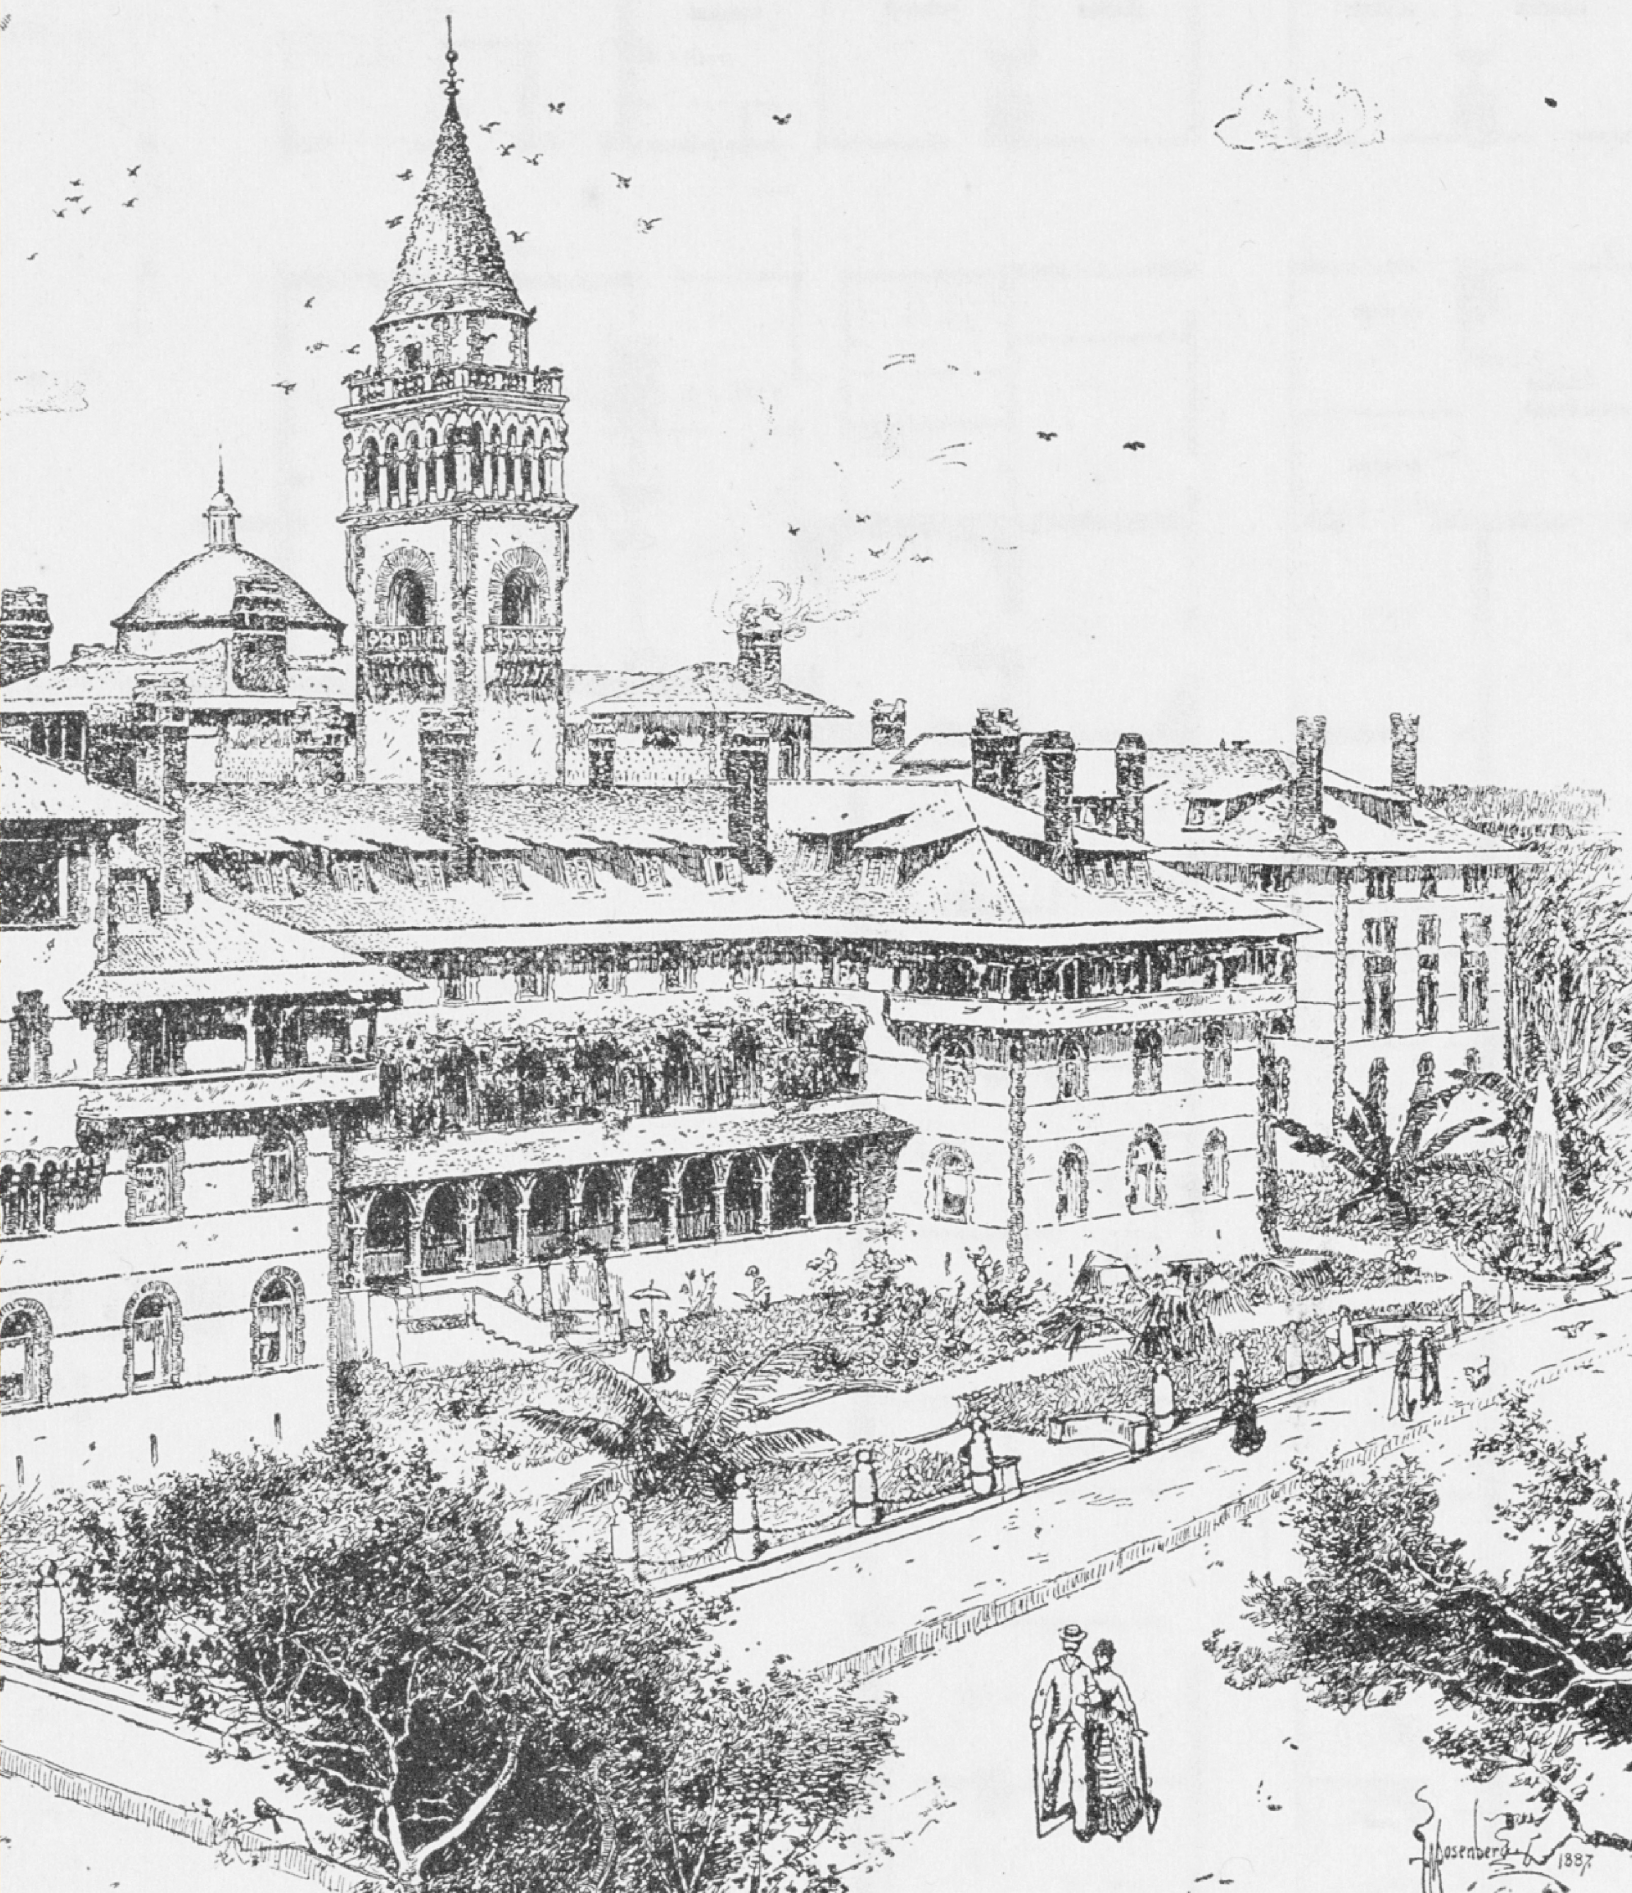

Congratulations on your incredible achievement, and best wishes for all your future journeys. Stay well and stay in touch, Saints!
